WEEKLY SUMMARY.....	13-14
FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES.....	15-16

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and corn bids were mixed this week but soybean bids jumped sharply higher. Lack of fresh export news and some profit taking on the Board after the long holiday weekend, added weakness. Some fund buying mid-week offered support to soybeans and limited declines in corn bids. Wheat narrowly mixed. Corn mixed. Sorghum steady. Soybeans 14 to 17 cents higher. Export demand was very disappointing this week for all commodities with only one corn sale last week and competition from Australian wheat adding pressure. Post holiday profit taking early in the week pushed prices lower but mid-week fund buying in corn and soybean pits limited losses. Wheat prices moved slightly lower as rain and snow hit winter wheat areas early in the week and some improvement was reported in winter crops many places. Farmer selling of corn and beans picked up late in the week as farmers need year end tax money. Traders are waiting for next week's USDA stocks and supply/demand reports. Brazil received rainfall this week in soybean growing areas but many crops have already been damaged from continued dry condition.
